Schedule V of the 2013 Act: Conditions to be fulfilled for the appointment of a managing or whole-time director or a manager without the approval of the Central Government

Corresponding to Schedule XII of 1956 Act- All companies

- The following differences between Schedule V of the 2013 Act and Schedule XIII of the 1956 Act are as under:
  - (i) Schedule XIII of the 1956 Act contained a list of 15 enactments under which conviction of an offence and being sentenced to imprisonment for any period and fine not exceeding Rs.1000, was disqualification for appointment as MD/WTD / Manager. Schedule V of the 2013 Act adds one more enactment to the list – the Prevention of Money – Laundering Act, 2002. Conviction of an offence under the Prevention of Money-Laundering Act, 2002 (and sentenced to imprisonment for any period and fine not exceeding Rs.1000) is disqualification for appointment as MD/WTD/manager under Schedule V of the 2013 Act. This was not a disqualification under Schedule XIII of the 1956 Act. Schedule V has replaced some of the enactments in the original list of 15 in Schedule III with their new avatars-FERA, 1973 with FEMA, 1999; the 1956 Act with the 2013 Act, the MRTTP Act, 1973 with the Competition Act, 2002.

- (ii) Minimum age limit for appointment as MD/WTD/manager was 25 years in Schedule XIII. However, anyone below 25 years but attained age of majority could be appointed if company passed a special resolution for this. Minimum age limit lowered by Schedule V of 2013 Act to 21 years minimum age limit is not relaxable by company.
- (iii) The Central Govt. is empowered to exempt by notification any class or classes of companies from any of the requirements of Schedule V. Central Govt. had no such power under the 1956 Act in respect of Schedule XIII.
- (iv) Under section II of Part II of both Schedule XIII of the 1956 Act as well as Schedule V of the 2013 Act, companies having no profits or inadequate profits are allowed to pay remuneration varying with effective capital without the Central Govt.'s approval. Schedule V has simplified the slabs and scale of remuneration by merging three slabs in Schedule XIII of the 1956 Act into one slab. Unlike Schedule XIII which capped remuneration at Rs.48,00,000 p.a. or Rs.4,00,000 per month Schedule V of the 2013 Act provides for removal of remuneration cap and provides that if effective capital exceeds Rs.100 crores, limit for remuneration shall be Rs.60 lakhs plus 0.01% of effective capital in excess of Rs.250 crores if effective capital is more than Rs.250 crores. The limits can be doubled by company by passing a special resolution which was not the case in Schedule XIII of 1956 Act.
- (v) Schedule V of the 2013 Act provides that in case of managerial person who is not holding securities of the company of nominal value of Rs.5 lakhs or more or an employee or director of company or not related to any director or promoter at any time during the 2 years prior to his appointment as managerial personnel – limit on remuneration is 2.5% of current relevant profit. This provision was not there in Schedule XIII of the 1956 Act.
- (vi) Section III of Part II of Schedule V has special provisions for newly incorporated companies for 7 years after incorporation, sick companies, remuneration fixed by BIFR or NCLT, SEZ. In these cases, remuneration in excess of limits in Section II of Part II can be paid without Central Govt's prior approval. This was not the case in Schedule XII of the 1956 Act.
